

Kreative Culture Klub

Inspiring Youths Recognising Roots

Friday 16th October 2015 – Award Ceremony
Waltham Forest Assembly Hall

Kreative Culture Klub exists primarily for young people of African & African Caribbean backgrounds. It was founded in May 1998. The idea was to advance their education through creative arts to develop self-confidence and esteem, which stemmed from the fact that these young people were and still are labelled as under-achievers.

It was thought an alternative approach to education incorporating black history which is not included in the National Curriculum, would instill in them a sense of cultural pride and identity. Commencing as a 6 month pilot project, the club opened in January 1999.

The organisation operates an equal opportunity policy and works with children/young people age 4-21 from economically and socially deprived areas from various cultural backgrounds in East London.

Workshops are also delivered to our members through the use of historical and current social issues. The focus of the sessions is on tackling issues that affect them personally such as events in/out of the classroom like low expectations, bullying, anti-social behaviour and gun crime. We also have an annual award ceremony to inspire aspiring students to achieve.

Here are some of our students receiving their awards on Friday 16th October 2015:

YGAB awards Nadia Hassan highest KS3 achiever across the schools taking part

Our year 11 leavers also received awards for their GCSE achievements this year

Our congratulations to all of the winners from Waltham Forest but of course a special mention to our very own students from George Mitchell School. Could this be you next year?
